

INDULGE

nailing beauty

By CRAIG LAWSON

Gel is back and we're not talking about that greasy hair product from the '80s. Axxium is a new gel formula that is applied over the nail, allowing for a safer option than acrylics. Acrylics can be known to break, taking part of the nail underneath with it - OUCH! Beyond the Fringe beauty therapist Natasha Voorkamp says gel is a more natural option allowing the nail underneath to breathe and grow more freely. "It's also a great way to extend your nails, add protection and is the latest fashion in nail art," she says. The gel dries instantly so you can walk out the door and you're ready to go. Gel is also more cost efficient and cheaper than acrylics. A set of Axxium can cost $45. A set of acrylics can cost $85 plus. What more can we say, but goodbye acrylics, hello gel. Axxium requires a professional application in a modern, fun, lively environment.

eye-mazing

Deep purple, light purple, orange purple. If you haven't guessed already - purple is the "new black" in eyewear.

The eyewear market is now so fashionable it has become indulgent to buy a new pair.

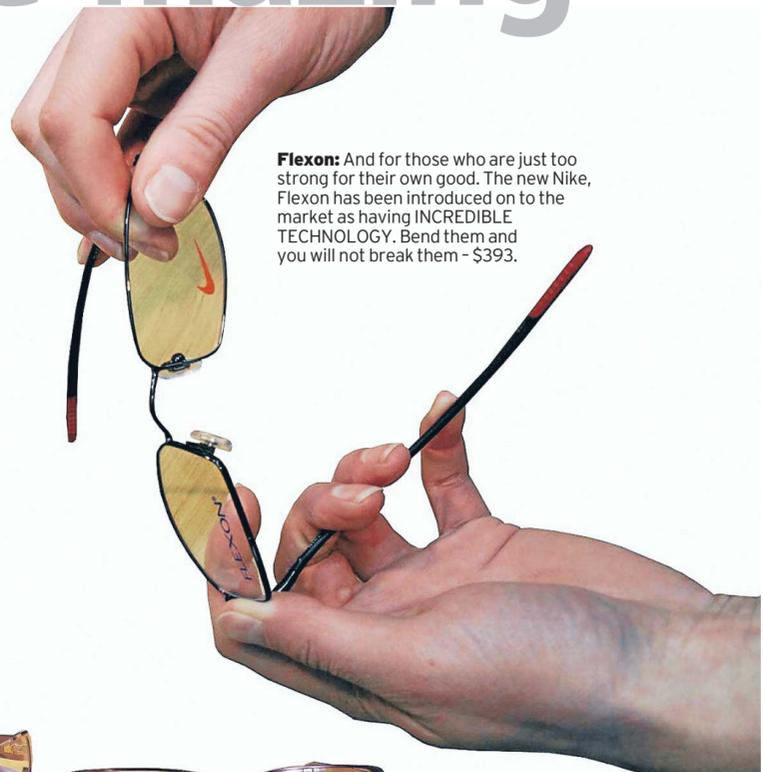

And the choice says it all.

Martin + Lobb optical technician Renne Fenton says the more popular brands are Diesel, Guess and Calvin Klein.

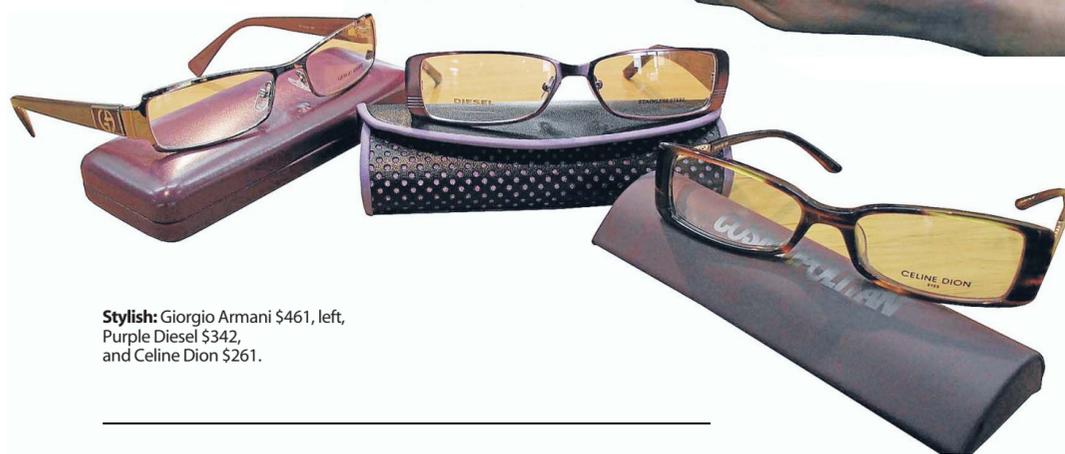

"The brands available have exploded during the years, with more colours and styles released on a regular basis," she says.

And it seems everyone wants to design them.

Donald Trump, Celine Dion, Levi's, Hallmark and even Hush Puppies has brands in the eyewear market.

Flexon: And for those who are just too strong for their own good. The new Nike, Flexon has been introduced on to the market as having INCREDIBLE TECHNOLOGY. Bend them and you will not break them - $393.
